COMMENTS

The hidden gem!! This one bedroom one bath condo is small but mighty. In addition to the bedroom and bathroom find a nice open concept for living room and kitchen plus private laundry. This is a year round condo with forced heat and central air. This unit is just a short walk to the beach and boardwalk. Parking is no problem as this unit comes with three off street parking spaces (this is not a misprint 3 spaces). There is a small private deck as you enter the unit to enjoy morning coffee or enjoy the designated outside living area that currently features an outside living sectional sofa and table private to unit #3. Outside you will also find a private storage bin for your beach items. This small association is made up of only three units. There is no monthly condo fee just shared insurances. The current owners do not rent but you do have the opportunity to generate solid rents.
