COMMENTS

Nestled in the quaint town of Northfield, this beautifully preserved 1903 home blends timeless character with elevated modern living. Set on an oversized, private lot along the prestigious Atlantic City Country Club, it offers peaceful sunrise views, privacy, and an inviting upscale atmosphere. Inside, ornate ceilings, graceful arches, and historic detailing pair seamlessly with high-end granite countertops, an elegant backsplash, and GE Café appliances. The open floor plan makes entertaining effortless and creates a warm flow for enjoying time with loved ones. Light beams in from every angle, with window upon window illuminating the piano room, kitchen, morning room, and the dining room—complete with crown molding and a custom window seat. The family room showcases large picture windows framing the beauty of the outdoors, while a small den offers the perfect office or craft space. Closets are abundant throughout the main level. The main floor also features a beautifully finished full bathroom with classic subway tile. The primary bedroom includes original hardwood floors with a cherry inlay, double closets, overhead storage, and a refined primary bathroom with two large vanities and a fully tiled stand-up shower. Upstairs, four additional bedrooms and a full bathroom provide flexible living options for family, guests, or quiet retreats. Outdoor living enhances the home's charm. A newly renovated wraparound front porch sets a welcoming first impression, while two rear decks offer ideal spaces for relaxing or entertaining. A tranquil pond—home to goldfish and a longtime snapping turtle—sits among seasonal flowers that brighten the property year-round. Birds frequent the yard, butterflies glide through the gardens, rabbits hop along the lawn, and each season brings a fresh display of flowers and color. A two-car detached garage and single shed add storage and convenience. Blending historic elegance, thoughtful upgrades, remarkable privacy, and a premier golf-course setting, this Northfield home offers a truly exceptional living experience.
